7 GLEN HARMER,

8 Plaintiff,

9 v.

10 STEVEN M. THOMAS, et al.,

11 Defendants.

13 On June 28, 2017, the parties filed a joint letter brief concerning the upcoming depositions
14 noticed for July 3 and July 5, 2017. (Joint Letter, Dkt. No. 134.) Therein, Plaintiff complained of 15 certain deponents having to travel more than 100 miles to undergo examination. (Joint Letter at 3.)
16 Plaintiff's counsel further represents that she is unavailable on July 3, 2017. (Joint Letter at 5.) In 17 light of the recurring scheduling challenges—which is compounded by the fact that there are 14
18 defendants in this action—all of the defendants have agreed to permit telephonic appearances for 19 all depositions, but Plaintiff has not signed Defendants' proposed stipulation. (Joint Letter at 6.)¹
20 Defendants further requested that the discovery cut-off date be extended, which was granted by 21 the district court in its referral to the undersigned, such that the deadline to complete discovery is 22 now August 18, 2017. (Dkt. No. 135.)

23

Upon review of the joint letter, Defendants' request to permit all parties to appear 24 telephonically at all depositions is GRANTED. In light of the district court's extension of the 25 discovery deadline, the undersigned orders the parties to meet and confer to reschedule the
